Rehabilitation of undertrials

†1759. SHRI SURENDRA LATH: Will the Minister of HOME AFFAIRS be pleased to state:

(a) the State-wise details of the total number of undertrials imprisoned in different jails in the country;

(b) whether it is a fact that there are large number of such prisoners who are languishing in jails for years as they are not in a position to provide bail-surety;

(c) whether Government have formulated any policy for the welfare and rehabilitation of such prisoners;

(d) whether it is also a fact that more prisoners are kept almost in all the jails than their respective capacities and no proper arrangement is made with regard to their food, lodging and sleeping; and

(e) if so, whether Government are formulating any plan in this regard?

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF HOME AFFAIRS (SHRI MANIKRAO GAVIT): (a) As per statistics compiled by the National Crime Records Bureau, there were 237076 undertrials detained in various jails of the country as on 31.12.2005. The State-wise details of undertrails is given in Statement-I (See below).

(b) A Statement indicating the number of undertrial prisoners kept in jails for various period at the end of 2005 is at Statement-II (See below).

(c) to (e) ''Prisons'' is a State subject under List II of the Seventh Schedule to the Constitution of India and Prison Administration is primarily the responsibility of the respective State Governments. However, with a view to supplement the efforts of the State Governments the following reform measures have been taken up by the Central Government:

(1) In order to improve the condition of prisons, prisoners and the prison staff, the Central Government launched a non-plan scheme in 2002-03 for construction of additional prisons to reduce overcrowding, repair and renovation of existing prisons, improvement in sanitation and prison staff. The scheme is being implemented over a period of five years with an outlay of Rs 1800 crore on cost sharing basis in the ratio of 75:25 between the Central and State Governments respectively.

(2) A new section viz. 436A of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 has been inserted in the Code to provide that where an undertrial prisoner other than the one accused on an offence for which death has been prescribed as one of the punishments, has been under detention for a period extending to one-half of the maximum period of imprisonment, provided for the alleged offence, he should be released on his personal bond, with or without sureties. It also provides that in no case will an undertrial prisoner be detained beyond the maximum period of imprisonment for which he can be convicted for the alleged offence.

†Original notice of the question was received in Hindi.

Section 436 (1) of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 has also been amended to make a mandatory provision that if the arrested person is accused for a bailable offence and he is an indigent and cannot furnish surety, the Court shall release him on his execution of a bond without sureties.

(3) In 2006, the Government of India has introduced the system of plea bargaining primarily to reduce pendency of cases in trial courts and overcrowding in prisons. Under plea bargaining an accused will be entitled to a reduced sentence if he admits to the crime and agrees to compensate the victim. This will also require the consent of the victim, judge and prosecutor. The accused will have to file an application before the judge for plea bargaining.

(4) For disposal of long pending sessions and other cases, Government of India has also set up 1562 Fast Track Court which have disposed off a total of 10.4 lakh cases out of 18.2 cases transferred to them.

(5) Government of India has prepared a Model Prison Manual and circulated to all the State Governments/Union Territories in December, 2003 for their guidance. The manual aims at bringing in basic uniformity in laws, rules and regulations governing the administration of prisons and the management of prisoners all over the country; rationalisation of prison practices to cater effectively to various categories of prisoners, spelling out minimum standards of institutional services for the care, protection, treatment, education, training and resocialisation of incarcerated offenders etc.
